

11-Day Storm Dies Out; 13 Left Dead And 500 Injured

New Orleans, Sept. 20 (AP)—A vicious, 11-day old hurricane, born in the Caribbean sea, was dying out early today in northern Louisiana after a rip-roaring career across southern Florida and the Gulf coast where it left at least 13 dead and around 500 injured.

Property damage across the afflicted Florida area and from New Orleans eastward to Biloxi, Miss., on the Gulf coast was immense and, so far, immeasurable.

At 4 p. m., the Weather bureau placed the center of the storm about 50 to 60 miles south, southeast of Shreveport in northwest Louisiana and still bearing on a northwesterly course at about 15 miles per hour.

Blowing Self Out
The bureau said winds of 30 to 40 miles per hour with gusts up to 50 miles per hour are being reported within 100 miles of the center.

On its present course, said the bureau, the hurricane will travel with diminishing intensity into northeastern Texas and southern Oklahoma and added, "Winds will continue strong and gusty. Accompanied by rain, across Arkansas, northeastern Texas and into Oklahoma during the day, but will diminish in Louisiana and Mississippi by this afternoon."

The bureau also said the big wind should have died down to 25 to 35 miles per hour around the storm center by later this afternoon.

No more advisories will be issued on this storm, the bureau concluded, but a bulletin will be issued about mid-morning.

Scant Reports
With seven already reported dead in southern Florida in the wake of the storm, a meager radio report received by a ham operator in Jackson, Miss., from the Naval Reserve station at Gulfport, Miss., told of six being killed by the storm in the Gulfport-Biloxi area and some 400 being injured.

Only bare information was obtainable, but the picture in that Gulf resort area was grim. Battered houses, splintered boats and first aid workers driving themselves through the night to administer first aid by flashlight to some 400 injured collected in the Naval Reserve armory at Gulfport.

And, as an aftermath of the hurricane, a tornado rose at Apalachicola, Fla., cutting a 250-foot wide swath for three miles through that northwest Florida town. One hundred were injured, 14 seriously enough to require hospitalization.

From Biloxi westward to New Orleans information poured in by every conceivable means which indicated that region was a mass of wrecked houses, ruined vacation cottages, destroyed crops and boats staved in from stem to stern.

Railroad causeways were reported down or under water. So were highways. Seawalls were badly battered. Bayous were in flood with a great area inundated.

And all through the region hundreds were reported homeless. These homeless found what shelter they could in schoolhouses and public buildings during the pitch darkness of the night which saw wind-driven rains beating through the skeletons of windows and pounding the roofs with steady, maddening monotony.

Stove Explodes And Burns Betty Brent, 13

Betty Brent, 13-year-old daughter of Logan Brent, Gettysburg R. D., was burned Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock when a coal oil stove exploded as she was lighting it.

Removed to the Warner hospital the youngster was found to have first and second degree burns of the right arm and hand, first degree burns of the left hand and second degree burns of the face. She remained a patient at the hospital today.

The exploding stove set fire to the Brent home, between here and Mummaburg, and the Gettysburg fire company was called. However the family was able to put out the fire before the fire company arrived. The Brent home is the former B. F. Lightner property.

SPEEDY DRIVER PERILS FIREMEN; TRAFFIC SNARL

An out-of-state driver who did the right thing when he heard the fire siren Friday afternoon caused a traffic jam that delayed the Gettysburg fire company for a short time, fire police said today.

The driver, hearing the siren pulled off to the side of the street and parked in order to be out of the way of the fire trucks.

When the out-of-state car pulled to the side on Baltimore street, near the square, Gettysburg traffic—following its usual custom, continued to flow, and the cars attempted to pass the parked motorist. About the same time a large piece of farm machinery, progressing through town approached from the opposite direction and traffic was jammed, halting the fire truck until the jam could be cleared.

Near-Accident En Route
Fire Chief James A. Aumen commented today that several out-of-state drivers around the square, along Carlisle street, and along the Mummaburg road were noticed to also follow the regulation of pulling to the side of the road in order to be out of the way of the oncoming fire trucks, but he added, Gettysburg motorists as usual made little attempt to give the right of way to the firemen.

In addition to their difficulties in town, the firemen's lives were endangered by a local driver along the Mummaburg road, Chief Aumen said, adding that the matter has been turned over to Fire Police Head Charles W. Culp, Jr., for prosecution.

To Prosecute Driver
A local driver, Aumen said, followed the fire trucks out the Mummaburg road at a high rate of speed.

When the fire trucks stopped, Aumen said, the driver of the pleasure car almost collided with the fire truck, nearly turned over and finally skidded to a stop on the wrong side of the highway.

The chief added that "it was only through fortune that no one was killed."

"The man's license number was taken by the firemen and as soon as identification is completed a charge will be brought."

MISS BOYER AND THOMAS W. ENCK ARE WED TODAY
Miss Lena M. Boyer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Martin Boyer, formerly of Biglerville, and Thomas W. Enck, son of the late Warren K. Enck, and Mrs. Enck, Biglerville, were united in marriage this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. Musselman Arnold, Biglerville. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. W. Geigley, Fairfield.

The bride wore a white silk chiffon dress with a finger-tip veil and carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Prior to the ceremony Miss Joan Enck, sister of the bridegroom played "Clare de Lune" and George Houck sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The traditional Lohengrin wedding march was used.

Following a reception the couple left on a wedding trip.

The bride is a graduate of Biglerville high school and Bluffton college, Bluffton, O. She taught at Biglerville high school for three years. She is now owner and manager of the L. Boyer Dress shop, Biglerville.

TAYLOR SCHOOL STORY ATTRACTS WIDE INTEREST

Because of the wide acclaim accorded the story, "THE PASSING OF THE LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE," by Leighton C. Taylor, published recently in The Gettysburg Times, and the many letters and telephone calls received in response to it, The Times quotes below one of the letters, which is typical of the reaction to the article. The letter comes from the Supervising Principal of an important school district in Pennsylvania. Favorable comments on the story, and requests for copies have come from points as far distant as Little Rock, Arkansas, and Des Moines, Iowa. The letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Taylor:

Ex-Mayor LaGuardia Of New York Expires In Sleep

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—Fiorella H. LaGuardia, 64, three times mayor of New York and former Director General of UNRRA, died at 6:22 a. m. today.

The fiery political leader had been in a coma since Tuesday night when his successor as Chief Executive of New York, Mayor William O'Dwyer.

"In his death the people of the city, the state and nation have lost a great, patriotic citizen," O'Dwyer said. He added:

"I fully believe that his unselfish devotion to the people and his untiring and energetic effort to promote public welfare contributed to a great extent to the failing health which culminated in death today."

Dies In Sleep

LaGuardia died in his sleep, Dr. George Baehr, attending physician, said. Dr. Baehr had been at the LaGuardia home since 7:30 last night. Dr. Meyer Karsh, another physician, also was there.

When LaGuardia died at 6:22 a. m., his wife, their two children, Erik, 15, and Jean, 18, and Mrs. LaGuardia's sister, Miss Elsie Fisher, were at the bedside.

The diminutive LaGuardia—he was five feet, three inches—was a rough and ready exponent of the "get tough" school of politics. His caustic tongue was noted for its whirlwind agility in exchanges with political enemies as well as for its fluency in foreign languages.

In his campaigns and during his years in office he addressed national groups in New York in their native language—Italian, German, French, Yiddish or Yugoslav.

C. Of C. Asks Help On Spraying Expense

The Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce today called upon local lodges and other organizations and business places to contribute toward the Chamber's share in the cost of spraying the town with DDT on Wednesday.

Borough council is paying $500 of the total bill while the Chamber of Commerce promised to pay the balance of $250.

A Chamber spokesman said the commerce body was interested in helping to initiate the program for the control of mosquitoes and other insect pests. "We believe the spraying was very successful and that an important step forward has been made in community sanitation methods. We believe, too, that business men and local groups will be glad to have a share in the project by contributing to its cost."

RED CROSS MEETING

The September meeting of the board of directors of the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross will be held Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Red Cross office at 141 Baltimore street, according to notices issued by the executive secretary, Miss Margaret McMillan. COLLEGE TOPS 1200 MARK IN REGISTRATION Gettysburg college has completed the registration of 1,198 students, the largest enrollment in the 116-year history of the local institution of learning. In addition there are a score or so more students who have not completed their registration which will bring the total enrollment to approximately 1,220.

College authorities, expanding every known available facility to accommodate the large number of students who wished to enroll here, sought to level off at not more than 1,200 to 1,220 and the final completed roster of students may be about 1,210, or thereabouts.

The freshman class includes 250 "straight" freshmen. This includes some students who came here from the temporary or area schools which were set up last year.

400 Sophomores
Sophomores top the registration with approximately 400. Juniors rank second with 370 and there are approximately 200 seniors.

World war veterans exceed the top enrollment of the college in its peak years before the war with 702. There are about 150 coeds.

The four new class rooms which were expected to be completed in time for the opening of the current school term have not been received here. The building, which will house the new class rooms, will be erected in the rear of Glatfelter hall. Just when it will be shipped here for erection is not definitely known. As soon as it is completed classes will be established there.

Classes In Chapel

In the meantime some limited, or temporary classes, are being conducted in Brua chapel.

When the enlarged and re-built Student Christian association building is completed, out of the ruins of the $60,000 blaze which partially destroyed the structure last November, other class rooms will be transferred there. Among them will be the music department.

To thoroughly instruct this record enrollment a faculty of approximately 100 full and part-time instructors has been signed.

Products Of County Industries Jumped $3,313,500 In Year As Wages Increase By $670,000

Ninety-five Adams county industries are producing goods valued at $36,022,300 a year, according to a survey completed by the state Department of Internal Affairs.

The figure for 1946 shows an increase of $3,313,500 in the value of products over 1945 when production was valued at $32,708,800.

In 1945, 102 establishments reported as compared with 95 in 1946.

Salaries and wages increased by about $6,700,00 during the year. A total of $8,063,300 was paid out in wages and salaries during 1945 while $8,734,200 was the total in 1946.

FEED COSTS UP BUT PRICES ON POULTRY HOLD

Chicken continued at 60 cents a pound at the Farmers' Market this morning while the farmers noted that feed prices continue to rise and wondered how long the price would continue at what they termed the low figure of 60 cents.

One farmer pointed out that his feed costs have increased by $2 a bag, including one increase of 25 cents within a week, while he is still selling his chickens at the same price per pound.

Tomatoes were dominant on the market this morning, selling at 20 cents a quart box or $1.25 a half bushel. Large and in perfect condition, the tomatoes were more in evidence than any other commodity.

There was much corn at 30 cents a dozen and apples were fairly plentiful. Apples, including McIntosh, were available at 20 cents a quarter peck, 40 cents a half peck and $1 a half bushel.

Peppers were two for five cents and three for ten cents. Eggs were 70 and 75 cents a dozen while pumpkins were available at 15, 20 and 25 cents, depending on size.

Potatoes were 30 to 35 cents a half peck, 20 cents a quarter peck; beets, ten cents a bunch and some lettuce was available at 15 cents a box.

WRONG SEED BRINGS SUIT

J. W. Sniffen, Gettysburg R. 3, who claims that he was given sweet clover seed when he paid for alfalfa seed, has started a suit for $1,011 plus interest in the Adams county civil courts here. The action in assumpt is against Cecil R. Snyder, Biglerville, who is agricultural teacher in the Biglerville high school. The statement of claim was filed Friday by Attorney Robert W. Geigley, representing Sniffen.

Sniffen claims that on March 27, 28 and 29, 1946, Snyder ran a classified advertisement in the Gettysburg Times offering agriculture and vegetable seeds to the public. Among the seed offered were 140 pounds of Utah alfalfa. Sniffen answered the advertisement and on April 1, 1946, orally contracted with Snyder to buy a certain amount of alfalfa seed.

Sniffen further states in his statement of claim that Snyder weighed the seed and delivered it to him, taking in payment a check for $45.98. The purchaser planted the seed in the spring of 1946 with a nursery crop of oats on his farm in a field of eight acres. This summer, before the first alfalfa crop was to be harvested, he noticed that the seed had been entirely sweet clover and not alfalfa, the statement asserts.

In his suit, Sniffen is asking $35 for the difference in the value of the alfalfa and sweet clover seed. He lists $528 the value of two cuttings of alfalfa and subtracts from this amount $120 which he lists as the value of the sweet clover, leaving $408 which he asks of Snyder. In addition, Sniffen seeks $528 as "the difference in value between a said amount of sweet clover sod on the land and the value of a second year of alfalfa sod on the land." He also asks $50 to plow under and eradicate the sweet clover.

FATHER PAYS FINE

Glenn Shultz, Franklin township, paid a fine of $2 and costs after pleading guilty before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore Friday night to a charge of keeping two children illegally absent from school. The charge was preferred by Franklin township authorities.

FEWER WOMEN WORKED

A drop off in employment is indicated by the survey which shows 6,131 as the number of wage earners in 1945 and 5,876 in 1946. Of those numbers 6,053 were white Americans, 45 colored Americans, and 33 foreigners in 1945, and in 1946 5,837 were white Americans and 19 colored Americans.

More women are employed at wages in county industries than men. The figures for 1946 show 2,812 men employed and 3,064 women, a slight increase in the number of men over 1945 when 2,556 males and 3,575 females were employed.

In 1945 the wages paid men totaled $3,821,400 and the amount paid females in wages was $3,157,200, or a total of $6,978,600. The 431 persons on salary in 1945 received $1,084,700 with the 257 salaried receiving $887,400 and the 174 females, $197,300.

FEWER MINORS

In 1946 the 2,812 male employees at wages received $4,530,900 and the 3,064 females received $2,956,600, or a total, in wages, of $7,487,500.

The 421 persons on salary in 1946 received $1,246,700 divided into $1,026,300 for the 268 males and $220,400 for the 153 females.

Fewer minors under 18 were employed in 1946 than in 1945. In 1946 the total employees under 18 was 272 as compared to 450 in 1945. In 1946 the 125 boys under 18 were paid $67,400 for their services and the 147 girls under 18 received $85,400. In 1945 the 238 boys under 18 received $91,100 and the 212 girls under 18, $79,500.

Increases Along the Line

While the total salaried and wage employees dropped from 6,562 in 1945 to 6,297 in 1946, every other part of industry increased.

The amount of primary horsepower increased from 16,510 to 17,025 and the horsepower of electric motors jumped from 14,572 to 15,355.

Capital invested moved up from $8,812,900 to $9,358,800, and value added to products by manufacture increased from $14,927,700 to $15,418,300.

MAJOR GRAINS, CATTLE PRICES SHOW DECLINE

(By The Associated Press)

The country-wide verbal bombardment at the high cost of living grew in volume today.

But the downward price trend in most of the major grain and livestock markets this week carried more hope for the consumer than some relief from the soaring prices for food and other items was in sight.

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, who on Monday will meet with President Truman's Food Study committee, expressed hope that the price drops in the grain markets would "start a downward trend" in the general cost of living.

May Take Action

"I hope prices soon will begin to reflect a realistic trend," Anderson told reporters in Chicago where he changed trains yesterday for his trip to Washington. "The solution of the price question lies in production. If we produce more and more, prices will go down."

Anderson and other top government officials prepared to take some action designed to stem the soaring prices for food and other items. The price situation, with wholesale food prices hitting all-time highs, ranked among top priority for Mr. Truman's attention upon his return today to Washington after his South American trip.

There has been talk for and against restoring price controls, suggestions for voluntary reduction of meat consumption and broader export controls. Secretary Anderson said he favored any voluntary rationing program that would relieve the demand for high priced foods but opposed federal rationing.

Three Men — Three Views

But in Philadelphia, Henry A. Wallace, former vice president, told reporters that the "only effective way" to lower the cost of living was for Congress to restore rationing and price controls.

Senator Ives, (R-N.Y.) disagreed, and said that price controls would cut production and encourage black markets. He said he would oppose restoring federal controls except as a last resort.

In San Francisco, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) accused President Truman of a policy of "planned inflation" and said the direct result was the high cost of living. He told a reporter that another depression is possible "if this price situation remains the same."

BANK ROBBER GETS 20 YEARS

Lewistown, Pa., Sept. 20 (P) — Robert W. Fox, 36, began serving a 12-year prison sentence today after pleading guilty to the charge of holding up the Beaver Springs National bank in a daring daylight robbery last month and fleeing with $8,000.

The Lewistown horse trader was sentenced in federal district court yesterday by U. S. District Judge Frederick V. Follmer.

"The careful preparation and the fact this was not done spontaneously," prompted the long sentence, Judge Follmer told Fox.

Fox was arrested shortly after the robbery when the automobile in which he was fleeing Beaver Springs, Union county, crashed into a tree near McClure. He was seriously injured in the accident. Practically all of the $8,000 in cash was recovered from Fox who had it packed inside his shirt.

James F. Snook, the bank cashier, called as a witness by the government, testified Fox walked into the bank, his face covered with a mask of cotton batting, and shoved a gun through the cashier window, declaring, "this is a holdup."

Thirty-six members of the Washington State college football team were entertained here Friday afternoon at a dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg and a trip over the battlefield.

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg National Park, presented the players with souvenir pamphlets from the Chamber of Commerce here, of which he is a director. After the meal Doctor Coleman and Dr. Frederick Tilberg escorted the players over the field.

The football players were one of the most interested groups I have ever conducted over the battlefield," Doctor Coleman said. "While the group was scheduled to return at 3 o'clock they remained more than a half hour beyond that through insistence of the players who wanted to learn more about the field."

Play Penn State

Besides the players and their coaches, Phil Sorbie and James Ennis, those attending the dinner at the hotel included D. E. Hess, of the Penn State Alumni group here. Doctors Coleman and Tilberg, Henry T. Bream, coach at Gettysburg college; C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director at Gettysburg college, and W. K. Rice, Harrisburg, who was in charge of arrangements for bringing the players here.

Committee Will Study Corporations

Harrisburg, Sept. 20 (P)—A special Legislative committee was named today to study existing Commonwealth laws relating to corporations and cooperatives with a view to codification and modernization.

Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn of Delaware county, chairman of the General Assembly's joint state government commission, selected Sen. John M. Walker of Allegheny county to head the 12-man group, with Rep. Henry J. Probert of Montgomery county as vice-chairman.

"In the passage of time corporate structures have changed to a considerable extent and cooperatives have changed altogether," Heyburn said in a statement. "The need for modernization to meet changed conditions is obvious to all."

CHEER LEADER HURT

Conneville, Pa., Sept. 20 (P)—Patricia Ann Shaffer, 14, is Dunbar township high school's first football casualty of the year. A cheerleader, she landed on her face while doing cartwheels and handstands. She was brought to Conneville State hospital for treatment of a possible broken nose.

BIG ARGUMENT IN LABOR FIELD ON AFFIDAVITS

By MAX HALL

Washington, Sept. 20 (P)—The greatest argument in the labor field will soon shift to San Francisco and Boston.

This argument is among the country's highest labor leaders, over whether they should consent to swear they aren't Communist sympathizers.

San Francisco is where the AFL convention will start October 6, Boston is where the CIO will start its executive board meeting October 8 and its convention October 13.

It's ironic that the anti-Communist provision of the Taft-Hartley labor law—just one among dozens of important "provisions"—should be creating such a huge uproar.

Resent This Provision

Among the 26 top officers of the AFL and CIO, some who are the strongest opponents of signing the non-Communist statements are also among the bitterest anti-Communists.

But they resent this provision of the law. They say Congress didn't ask corporation officers to sign such statements.

Even more significant is the fact that they resent the whole law. They fought its passage. They want it repealed. They don't like to co-operate with it in any way they don't have to.

Those are some of the reasons for the big argument. Despite those motives and emotions, many leaders, especially those of the AFL, decided to go ahead and sign the statements and allow their unions to reap the legal benefits that would go with it.

Cases Frozen

That is, AFL unions could then continue to file cases before the National Labor Relations Board.

But John L. Lewis, one of the AFL's 13 vice presidents, held out against it. So far he has prevailed, because under the present rules, if only one AFL officer refuses to sign, no AFL union can use the NLRB's services.

Both the AFL and the CIO will have fights over the issue at their conventions. The fights may come out in public debate, or behind the locked doors of hotel rooms.

Meantime many cases which AFL and CIO unions filed with the NLRB before the new law went into effect will stay frozen on the NLRB books until after the conventions.

Scouts Plan Hike

A two-day hike over the territory between Pine Grove Furnace and Caledonia is being planned for the members of Littlestown Boy Scout Troop 84. The boys with their adult companions will make the trip the week-end of October 4 and 5. They will spend the night of October 4 in the mountain in tents.

The troop soon expects to be able to use the redecorated basement of the Littlestown State bank as its regular meeting place. The meetings recently have been held in the building in the picnic grove adjoining St. John's Lutheran church.

The troop meets weekly with Scoutmaster Alton E. Bowers and his assistant leaders, Edgar A. Wolfe and Wilbur E. Mackley. At their meeting this week, the scouts attended the corn bake and Wiener roast held by the Littlestown Fish and Game Association.

Crashes To Death In Sweetheart's Yard

Somerset, Pa., Sept. 20 (P)—David Petrea, 22, a student pilot, flew low in his training plane yesterday, passed over the house of his girl friend and waved merrily.

The plane's engine sputtered, choked out and the craft crashed in the front yard of the home of pretty Mildred Lane, near here. When she reached his side Petrea was dead.

FREE WOMAN IN MERCY SLAYING

Reading, Pa., Sept. 20 (P)—"Thank you — Oh, thank you very much," a wan-faced middle aged spinster sobbed to a jury of seven men and five women in acquitting her of murder in the "mercy" slaying of her invalid, 71-year-old mother.

Friends and neighbors who had stood with Ella M. Haug in the courtroom as she waited through the two and a half hours the jury deliberated last night, rushed to congratulate the weeping woman, and several invited her to their homes to rest.

"I'm so glad you could understand," Miss Haug told the jurors. "That means more to me than freedom."

Then, turning to her attorney, she added: "My freedom! Now that I'm free I don't know what I'm going to do with myself."

The state charged that Miss Haug gave her mother, Mrs. Katie Latshaw, an incurable invalid, 12 barbiturate tablets last July 20, and then took 15 herself in an unsuccessful suicide attempt.

A signed statement in which Miss Haug admitted administering the tablets to her mother "to end her suffering" was introduced in evidence.

The defense contended the barbiturate tablets did not cause the mother's death.

At 10:30 a. m. Sunday morning. The food will be sent to the Hoffman orphanage, in part, and some will probably be taken to the home for the aged in Hagerstown. Special music will be provided by the junior and senior choirs combined and by the senior choir.

At St. James Reformed church, the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, pastor, the Altar Guild will also have charge of receiving the donations, which will be sent to the Hoffman Orphanage after the Harvest Home service, which will be held at 9:00 o'clock.

Sunday evening at 7:30 in Centenary Methodist church, the Rev. Grantas E. Hoopert, pastor, will be conducted the third of the series of musical vespers services, to which the public is invited. Vocal selections will be rendered by the Martin Sisters of Harney, Md., and the entire program is being arranged with emphasis on music.

DODGERS' TITLE IS DELAYED AS CARDS WIN 5-2

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Brooklyn still awaits, with poised cowbells and ready sirens, the signal to celebrate the mathematical pennant clinching, now two days overdue.

While the Dodgers lingered in the vicinity of Hugh Casey's restaurant, with an ear cocked toward reports of the Cardinal game, the St. Louis gang fanned their flickering hopes last night with a 5-2 win over Chicago.

There was nothing the Brooks could do about it yesterday for the schedule makers had given them an off day after an impromptu "welcome home" celebration at Penn Station on their arrival from the west.

They had blown a chance to nail down the National League flag at Pittsburgh Thursday but they were sure they would wrap it up at Ebbets' Field where the Boston Braves will be their guests both today and tomorrow.

Yankees Favorites
One more Brooklyn win or one more St. Louis loss would be the clincher, sending the Dodgers into the world series with the New York Yankees a week from Tuesday. Already the oddsmakers have labeled the Yanks a 17-10 favorite.

Little Vic Lombardi, their most consistent winner since early July, drew the honor of pitching against the Braves in what could be the payoff game. Trust Billy Southworth's ambitious Boston gang to make it tough all the way for they still have faint hopes of finishing second.

Stout pitching by Al Brazie, until he faltered in the ninth, and solid slugging by Terry Moore, Enos Slaughter, Red Schoendienst and Marty Marion highlighted the Cards' victorious 13-hit attack on Johnny Schmitz and Emil Kusch.

Fans who had turned out for Terry Moore night and honored the veteran outfielder with a new car and other gifts before the game, saw him single home the first two Cardinal runs in the first inning, a lead the Cards never lost. Enos Slaughter's 10th homer in the seventh inning and doubles by Marion and Schoendienst helped St. Louis pile up its safe margin.

Pollet To Rescue
After blanking the Cubs in all except the seventh when Bill Nicholson hit his 24th homer, Brazie ran into trouble in the ninth inning as the Cubs loaded the bases with one out. Howie Pollet was summoned to retire the last two batters.

All other National League teams were idle and the only American league game was washed out in the third inning with Boston holding a 2-0 edge over Washington at that stage.

Rookie Charles (Chuck) Stobbs, 18-year-old southpaw from Norfolk, Va., making his first big league start, pitched three flawless innings before the game was called. Stobbs, a graduate of the Lynn, Mass., farm of the New England league, singled on his only trip to the plate.

CHAPMAN TO STAY

Philadelphia, Sept. 20 (AP)—President Robert R. M. Carpenter, Jr., says Ben Chapman will continue to manage the Philadelphia Phillies next year. There had been some speculation about Chapman's status because of the lowly position of the club that finished fifth in 1946.

Steelers, Detroit Open At Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Sept. 20 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers and the Detroit Lions open the National Football league season here tomorrow with a duel between Halfback Bill Dudley and Steeler Coach Jock Sutherland the added attraction which will lure a standing-room-only crowd of 40,000 to Forbes Field.

Dudley, the sparkplug of the Steelers last year, was traded a few weeks ago to the Lions. His trade followed persistent reports that he would give up pro football rather than play for the Steelers or their famed coach, Dr. John Bain Sutherland.

Following the trade, "Jock" remarked that Dudley "was a bit on the bossy side." Nonetheless, he turned in remarkable exhibitions for the Steelers and the Lions expect him to keep up his good work.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 20 (AP)—While football coaches are stifling their sobs in the traditional crying towels, their college baseball-teaching colleagues are moaning in high C as they discover how many of their stars signed pro contracts during the summer. . . . For instance, Frank Prentiss was counting on Don Swartz to Pitch Colorado U. to a conference championship next spring. But Don pitched some brilliant non-professional tournament ball during the summer and was signed by the Cubs for a reported $6,000 bonus. . . . Texas U., whose southwest conference championship team was expected to return intact, hears that the entire infield has been signed up. . . . Stanford was ready to boom Lloyd Merriman for all America fullback when Lloyd turned to pro baseball. . . . Michigan State's John Kobs is keeping his fingers crossed. His star shortstop, Marty Hansen, turned down an $8,000 offer from the Reds last spring, but now John hears the big league scouts again are pestering both Hansen and Pitcher Robin Roberts.

OTHER FISH TO FRY
For his last week-end of relaxation before the start of football battling, Coach Bob Higgins of Penn State hid out in New York state and went fishing. . . . Bob's prize catch was a 22-inch bass, said to be one of the largest ever landed in that section. . . . It couldn't gain through a Higgins line either.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

North Carolina U. Publicitor Bob Madry, an expert manufacturer of All America football prospects, is moaning because Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice is getting too much pre-season publicity. . . . Madry is afraid that Justice may have a merely good afternoon some day and the experts who see him then all will think he's been over-rated. . . . Bob Kipphuth, Yale athletic and swimming coach, had a $700 toothache recently. Bob went to Europe to inspect the Olympic swimming site and the day he landed he suffered an ulcerated tooth. . . . Rather than try hit-and-run treatments, he caught the first plane back to New Haven without even one look at a swimming pool. . . . Tip: Look for Southwestern Louisiana Institute to come up with one of the season's best small-college guards in Ted "Yokum" Andrus. Ted hails from Rayne, La., and really pours it on.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING

Reports from Los Angeles says that Spec Sanders, football Yankee quarterback, made a notable contribution to that crowd of 82,875 which saw the Yankees beat the Los Angeles Dons when no fewer than 91 of his relatives turned up for the game. . . . The gang all came from Texas and Oklahoma and stayed over for this week's tussle with the 49'ers.

WEAK END NOTES

Barney (six years) Poole, former Army end, now says the other half of the Mississippi passing combination, Charley Conerly, is a better all-around back than Arnold Tucker. . . . Earl Banks, Iowa guard, recently came up with a new alibi for missing practice: "I was home cashing my terminal leave bond."

Eastern League

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 20 (AP)—The Eastern League Governors' cup finals will get under way again tomorrow (Sunday) at Hawkins Stadium here after a two-day lapse.

The champion Utica Blue Sox and the second place Albany Senators, tied up at a game apiece in the best-of-seven series, were rained out last night. No game was scheduled for today.

Manager Merrill May of the Senators planned to send his big right-hander, Jimmy Walsh, against the Sox. Manager Eddie Sawyer, who had intended to use Southpaw Al Hodkey last night, may switch to Dale Jones, veteran righthander, tomorrow.

Batting—Terry Moore, Cardinals—celebrated Terry Moore Night at St. Louis by driving home two Cardinal runs with first-inning single.

Pitching—Al Brazie, Cardinals—postponed Brooklyn's pennant clinching celebration with 5-2 victory over Chicago although he required relief help from Howie Pollet in the ninth inning.

HANOVER WHIPS DELONE ELEVEN BEFORE 6,000

Before the largest crowd ever to witness a scholastic football game in Adams county, estimated at over 6,000, Hanover high Nighthawks defeated Delone Catholic high, 18-6, on the McSherrystown gridiron Friday evening.

Every inch of available space was jammed by a huge throng on hand to witness the arch rivals tangle.

Coach Bell's Squires scored early in the second quarter when Fred Bennett broke through the center of the line at midfield and sprinted 60 yards for a touchdown.

Hanover came right back and tallied twice to take a 12-6 lead at half time. The kickoff was returned to the Hanover 40. On a pass Gobrecht went 21 yards to the Delone 49. Gobrecht went through left tackle for 35 yards to put the ball on the Delone 4. Moore picked up two yards on a line plunge and then Rightmire smacked over.

A 57-yard scamper by Jack Moore produced another Hanover score in the second period.

In the final quarter Rightmire went through for a touchdown from the five-yard line.

Hanover's speedy backs simply outran the Squires for most of their long gains. Hanover rolled up 12 first downs to nine for the Squires. During the half-time intermission Hanover's huge band put on a brilliant exhibition.

20,000 TO SEE HERSHEY GAME

Hershey, Pa., Sept. 20 (AP)—Two power-packed grid machines clash head-on tonight when the rugged Washington State Cougars meet the Penn State Lions in an intercollegiate game, highlighting the opening of Eastern Collegiate football.

Coach Phil Sorboe brought 31 veterans east for the first of a two-game series.

Against this husky array the Veteran Bob Higgins, head coach of the Nittany Lions, will have 16 lettermen and eight other players who won their letters prior to service in the armed forces.

A 3,000 mile trip by plane, one of the first transcontinental jaunts in the history of collegiate football, was weathered in good style by the Washington State squad. Coach Sorboe summed up the situation when he said "We are accustomed to making long trips in order to play football, and the boys are in fine shape for our opening contest."

Higgins, declining to issue a pre-game statement, kept his players close to the campus, away from the excitement that has gripped Hershey, and nearby Harrisburg.

About 20,000 fans are expected to crowd into a stadium built to seat 16,000. Governor James H. Duff, Pennsylvania's chief executive, and the state's two U. S. Senators, Francis J. Myers, and Edward Martin, were listed among the dignitaries who will be in attendance.

ITALY FACING RUSSIAN PLOT TO TAKE POWER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Where will the red lightning strike next?

That's a natural question in view of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky's United Nations speech which by implication made it clear that Russia intends—come hell or high water—to pursue its scheme of world revolution for the establishment of Communism. We may have our answer in Italy's critical situation.

That war-shattered country is treading close to a left-wing political upheaval. The life of the government under Premier Alcide De Gasperi, leader of the slightly right-of-center Christian Democratic party, is in grave danger from a powerful and concerted attack by the Communists and Socialists, whose representatives were ousted from the cabinet some time ago.

"Economic Chaos"

But this is no ordinary fluctuation of political fortunes involving merely tenure of office under the same form of government. The extreme left is reaching for power.

The situation is complicated by economic chaos which has provided fertile ground for tilage by the Communists and pinks, and they haven't neglected their opportunities. Among recent activities they have been cooperating in planning a huge, country wide demonstration for today against the cost of living and against Gasperi's government — "against the speculation and egotism of privileged capitalistic groups."

Some Italian newspapers have described the demonstration as a "prelude to revolution." Palmiro Togliatti, Russian trained Italian Communist leader, yesterday denied this. However, he did say that "there is a will for revolution in large strata of the Italian people." A fortnight ago Togliatti was quoted in Italian newspapers as having told a Partisan audience:

Facing Climax

"We shall call the Italian people to fight for liberty which is threatened by the government."

Meantime, for the past 12 days there has been a strike of 1,600,000 farm workers, egged on by the extreme Leftists, in northern Italy. This strike, which finally was composed yesterday, placed crops in jeopardy at a time when the Italian peninsula is suffering grievously from food shortage. This, of course, has added to the discontent of an already distressed population.

In this stormy atmosphere Italy has moved toward a climax which the extreme Leftists intend shall involve the downfall of the Gasperi government in one way or another. The Communist-Socialist combination hopes to achieve the overthrow of the government next week on a vote of no-confidence in the constituent assembly. If that fails—what? Are we witnessing a "prelude to revolution?"

Today's Talk

OUR MULTIPLE BLESSINGS

If every morning, and every evening, we considered our blessings, and thanked God for them, we would be happier human beings. We would be happy just for life itself—for food, clothing, friends, opportunity in a free land, the right to think as we will and worship in our own way, and thankful for the lavish beauty and wonder in Nature, which latter, in itself is an explanation of the love and creative power of God.

It is true that misfortune comes to many, to most of us at some time or other, but there are always more blessings than misfortunes. And there is far more good than bad in the world.

We cannot expect these many blessings, however, just by wishing for them. Even the simplest ones are the result of work and some sort of creative occupation. The mere bird that has built its nest, hatched its eggs and fed to maturity its little family, perches itself on the limb of a tree and pours out its gratitude and satisfaction in song. It is happy. It has fulfilled its bird mission, and wants the whole world to know about it.

We should stretch our many blessings, so that they touch other people. Otherwise they wilt for us. We must share to enjoy. We must give to get.

Whenever we grow weary, discouraged, lonely for sympathetic understanding, and perhaps deeply despondent, that is not the time to give up, to feel that the world has turned its back upon us and left by another route. Such a time is for us to stop and think—to begin to count our blessings—one by one—and over and over again, for then will it dawn upon us how very fortunate we are, and how happy we should be with all that we have. Things that we don't have are possibilities. Many of them may yet be ours!

We need humility to make us appreciative and reverent. When we are that way our blessings loom, like mountains before us, and blot out all memory of past failures and unhappy experiences. When we walk away from ourselves, we run into the better nature of others, and are thus inspired to think of our blessings anew—especially the blessings that follow the meeting of a friend.

PA. INDUSTRIAL SAFETY DRIVE IS PAYING OFF

Harrisburg, Sept. 20 (AP)—The commonwealth's industrial safety program is paying off in reduced deaths and injuries to industrial workers, the Department of Labor and Industry said Friday.

Secretary William H. Chesnut issued a report showing monthly toll of industrial injuries continued to move downward in July with 9,683 persons hurt and 88 killed as against 9,766 and 104 respectively in June and 11,049 and 104 in July of 1946.

"It is the state's inspection program and the safety meetings we have been having all over the state," explained Thomas J. Quigley, director of the State Bureau of Inspections.

Industrial Rate Down

"Even though employment is at the greatest peak it has ever been, the number of industrial accidents is declining and it is the same whether it is in steel or behind a cigar counter," Quigley stated.

The accident report, issued by the Department's bureau of Research and Information, showed manufacturing industries reported decreases in both injuries and deaths, contributing 17 per cent of all fatalities and 39.7 per cent of non-fatal injuries.

In non-manufacturing lines, there was a slight increase in deaths but a lower figure for non-fatal injuries with this group accounting for 83 per cent of the deaths and 60.3 per cent of the injuries last month.

Survey On Causes

Turning to causes, the department said overloading, crowding and poor arrangement accounted for 58.6 per cent of the accidents with teasing, distracting attention or abusing causing the injury of 47 persons.

On the other hand, improperly guarded equipment caused one injury, improper illumination three, and unsafe dress or apparel 299.

There were 1,310 persons injured in the iron and steel industries, 1,175 in construction and contracting, 915 in anthracite and 631 in bituminous mining, 357 in transportation and communication, and 304 in hotels and restaurants.

DEMANDS FACTS ON EMERGENCY

Philadelphia, Sept. 20 (AP)—The people of the United States "have a right to an explanation" of the "international emergency" that prompted President Truman to order from the battleship Missouri the immediate swearing in of James Forrestal as defense secretary, says Henry Wallace.

Speaking at a rally sponsored by the Eastern Pennsylvania chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America last night, Wallace said: "I insist that if there is a genuine emergency the people have a right to an explanation."

"If there is no emergency, this action rates as the very lowest method of breeding fear. It is not a technique which will melt Russian stubbornness. It will certainly not endear us to the peace-loving people anywhere in the world."

Dr. Frank Kingdon, of New York, co-chairman of the PCA, appealing to the 12,000 persons attending the rally for funds for the "Wallace for President committee," said the people united behind Henry Wallace is the "only one thing that can take 'Franklin D. Roosevelt's place' in the White House. Later he announced cash gifts of more than $15,000 collected.

Negro Singer Paul Robeson told the meeting "negroes must rally around Wallace, whether it be in the Democratic party or another party."

Let's Go Fishing
While there will be some of the familiar hints in the column today I am going to depart from by weekly custom of offering a variety of thoughts for your emergency kit and take something of a holiday by rambling around in the motor menagerie. It seems to me that all of us get our nose too much to the daily gasoline grind and that once in a while we should get at the wheel and start off with no particular destination in mind. So here we go.

I wasn't going to mention it at all but somehow the late war has broken down the false belief that just because a car is old it is outdated. Several times recently I have caught young lads whistling as some of the pre-1940 cars roll by. There are some very smart 1938 jobs around, and of course if you really want distinction you can go way back to some of the pre-World War I offerings. A friend of mine is dickering for an American Under-slung. Remember? The old Mercer is getting quite a play even to being featured in color in one of the national weeklies.

Danger In Extremes
Just twenty-five years ago American Motorist carried an article in which Gilliland Mason contended that the expert motor vehicle driver is as bad an insurance risk as the novice. This has just come to light in the News Review which the AAA publishes for its secretaries and managers of affiliated clubs. When it comes to taking chances, Mason continues, the novice hesitates because he regards it as hazardous. The clever driver on the other hand, takes the chance because he does not consider it a risk.

In view of the fact that Gilliland Mason is my own pen name I'll just have to concede that this makes sense.

Jack It With Safety
Jumping to the present we find some interesting sidelights on current developments. You have, for instance, heard a lot about wrap-around bumpers and you may almost believe that the sole purpose of this development was to make bumpers less of an accessory, more a part of the car. Actually a factor in the change was the danger in bumper jacking. Naturally with the bumpers nearer the center of mass a bumper jack is less of a hazard. Look for greater emphasis on jacks which can fit under the axle or the wheel assemblies. Stressed too are the new metal blocks for holding the car by one of the other wheels when changing a tire.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"Just let me get my car in here to say a word about the difficulty of checking oil leakage. Lube has such a tricky way of getting out of bounds by the most devious means. You can prove this by loosening one of the spark plugs and noting how much oil will be encouraged to suck up past the piston rings."
"Oil gets past the rear main bearing into the clutch housing to cause grabbing. On some cars it leaks out of the transmission, runs down through the propeller shaft and overfills the rear end. If the vacuum pump of the fuel pump springs a leak oil will suck up into the intake manifold and burn off. Very little oil loss shows up as actual dripping."

From Where I Sit
These days it's hard to find a resort hotel where you can put your feet up on the porch rail and watch the cars go by, but I have a favorite spot up in the Berkshires where annually I learn a lot more about cars—and drivers. Latest discoveries include the fact that most drivers apply the brakes after they get into a curve rather than before. There is too much braking over rough patches of road. Truck drivers keep to a more steady pace. Too many people drive with only the right hand on the wheel. There are far too many cars with loose tail pipes. Many more owners would head for the repair shop if they could sit on that same porch and watch others drive their cars.

All This Will Pass
Right now the topic of owner "loyalty" is coming in for a lot of discussion in the automobile world. There is a well-grounded fear on the part of the industry that because motorists have been buying whatever cars they could get any preference for the characteristics of cars of specific makes is now lost. Fear, however, is lack of faith. I think it can be safely said that some of the leaders in the business still believe that when the present abnormalities are at an end owner loyalty will come back into the picture again. Buyers will not so easily forget the fact that they prefer certain characteristics in cars, and that they value the car makers' integrity and acumen.

All News To Them
The two lads I gave a ride home the other day will vouch for this: They were very car conscious, and as we rolled along were quick to spot the new jobs. Gradually they began to note how quietly the engine of my car was running. "That's due to the hydraulic valve lifters," I explained. "This is the latest development in valving, and yet it is so old you fellows may never have seen two cars which were among the first to adopt it."

I also told them about a car I once owned with power brakes that could be adjusted to meet driving conditions. I used full power when running on dry roads, the minimum when the going was slippery. Then there was the car with a centralized oiling system. One pull on the plunger and the whole car was lubricated. One of these cars also had hydraulic shock absorbers that could be adjusted from the dash.

It was all news to the lads.

Clogs The Intake
If you are one of millions who are trying to keep the old car running a while longer there's a good chance that failure to get normal results from the engine, even after an overhaul, is due entirely to the intake manifold being clogged. Believe it or not, carbon can do quite a job of clogging this piping for the carburator gases. It gets into the manifold as a result of backfiring and clings there because of the gumming deposits which are formed by reason of the passage of so much raw fuel in cold starting. The manifold can be cleaned out.

One thing about touring is the opportunity it offers for discovering what others are using by way of travel conveniences. One car from the far west was equipped with an evaporative cooler that must have been a real help when driving through arid parts of the country. Then there was the rear seat passenger jolting comfortably against a special neck-shaped pillow with a washable casing that zipped off and on. A visitor was amazed that I still open the garage doors by hand. His doors control by radio right from the car. I was intrigued with a new oil dip stick that is magnetized to pick ferrous metal particles from the crankcase.

Q. There is a peculiar clattering or rattling noise in the engine of my car at certain speeds. Sometimes I can hear it when the engine is idling, but not as clearly as when the car is running. Can't find anything loose. K. McB.

A. You will probably find that the manifold heat control valve is loose. A heavier return spring should check this.

Q. Is there any risk in excessive use of the starter motor? My engine doesn't start easily and while I have to crank a lot to get it going the battery holds up because I drive far enough each day to keep it charged. J. L. D.

A. A starter-motor may throw solder if used too much. Try to get at the cause of that slow starting. You may find that there is moisture on the top of the coil, the spark plugs and the distributor head. Wipe these off before you crank. Another possibility is having too much soot on the plug points.

Q. There is annoying noise in the exhaust of my car, a sort of loud (Please Turn to Page 6)

MORE TIRE FOR YOUR MONEY

There's EXTRA VALUE in the Tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES

It's time to measure what you get for what you pay. No matter what you buy, the measure of true worth is in performance . . . how long it will serve you.

In tires there are several yardsticks . . . mileage, protection against bruising and road shocks, resistance to skidding. In all of these, the B.F. Goodrich Silvertown gives you extra value.

Its wider, flatter tread which covers more road area, spreads the wear more evenly. The more tire in contact with the road also means more tread to grip . . . to prevent skidding. Beneath this better tread is a 35% stronger cord body built with sturdier cords and more of them to give better resistance to road shock and bruising.

All this Extra Value adds up to today's big tire buy . . . the postwar B. F. Goodrich Silvertown—the tire that OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES.
